HUGHES' PROTEST
IS INCONSISTENT

Chairman McCormick Says
Statement Shows Utter Lack of Frankness.

News-Times Special Service:
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, today gave out the following statement:

"Mr. Hughes' attempt to explain his silence, when a word from him would have been welcomed, concerning means for averting the threatened railroad strike, stamps him with an utter lack of frankness. He did not suggest to his republican advisers in the senate that they fight to the death the law that he now assails because, as he says, he does not believe in filibustering."

"He protests, also that the administration, through the legislative channels of congress, met the crisis with such business-like dispatch that he, a thousand miles removed, could not have been expected to offer any suggestions. "The protest of the republican candidate that if congress, through its majority, determined to pass the bill there was no reason whatever that its action should be merely delayed by filibustering is illuminating, as developing another of Mr. Hughes' inconsistencies. Just about the time the senate was confronted with the strike crisis, the democrats, in obedience to the mandates of their party platform, were trying to pass through the senate the corrupt practices act, which seeks to curb an evil that is a disgrace to the nation."

"When by a vote of more than two to one the senate voted to proceed with the consideration of this bill which already had been passed by the house and favorably reported by a senate committee, the passage of this meritorious legislation by the senate was obstructed and defeated, or as Mr. Hughes would say, 'merely delayed' by a republican filibuster. The 'mere delay' in this instance, was highly important in view of the pending presidential election and it is significant that the republicans were responsible for the 'mere delay'."

"Mr. Hughes knew that congress, through its majority had determined to pass the bill (the corrupt practices act) and he knew, moreover that the manifest desire of the majority of the senate was being obstructed by the republican threat of a filibuster, a legislative device in which the leader of the republican party 'does not believe'."

"Words from Mr. Hughes during the consideration of this bill would have sufficed to have stopped the filibuster and enabled the majority to pass the corrupt practices act. But no word came from Mr. Hughes. He was as silent about the threatened filibuster against the corrupt practices act as he is now silent in offering his objection to filibustering as his excuse for not defeating the eight hour law."

"If he remained silent on the eight hour law because he does not believe in filibustering, why didn't he speak out and condemn the threatened filibuster by which the corrupt practice act was defeated?"

New York Strike
Proves a Failure

International News Service:
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The proposed industrial tie-up in this city in sympathy with the striking traction workers, received another severe jolt today when announcement was made that the 150,000 members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union would return to work at the end of the Jewish new year celebration. They had been expected to remain idle.

Union workers who quit in sympathy with the garment makers dwindled to a mere handful, 6,000 every workers being the latest to seek reinstatement after having voted to strike.

Striking street car employees received their first benefit today, about $55,000 being distributed.

SUB FLEET IS
FIN L WEAPON
SAYS LONDON

British Papers Regard Chancellor's Speech as Admission That Germany
Sees Defeat Ahead.

BELIEVE SUBS WILL BE CALLED TO ACTION SOON

Washington Officials Are Not Worried—Say Time is Not "Proper" to Start
Sub Warfare.

International News Service:
LONDON, Sept. 30.—The speech of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, is regarded here as an admission that Germany sees defeat to be inevitable. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's words implying that ruthless submarine warfare is to be resumed is taken to clinch that belief.

Germany has held her submarine fleet as the final weapon to be launched when all else failed, and, despite the boast that the German lines will hold the chancellor's reference to submarines show that fear has begun to eat into the heart of the German government, in the minds of English leaders.

Such responsible newspapers as the Times and the Chronicle, in analyzing the reichstag speech see in it a reflection of official pessimism. The Chronicle declares that Germany sees all hope of annexing Belgium gone and that she realizes that she cannot win on the field. The only question, the Chronicle says, is:

"How much longer can Germany last?"
Newspapers and government officials express no exaggerated hopes. They said that Germany will fight on and that it may be many months before the end is near, but all current developments, of which the chancellor's speech is one of the most important, point more and more clearly to decisive victory for the allies, it is declared.

TIME NOT PROPER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Diplomatic circles in Washington today failed to see indications that Germany would resume submarine warfare on the former plane "at this time."

Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's characterization of a statesman who deserves "to be hanged" referred to a statesman who would refrain from using every "proper" means of warfare, one diplomat stated. "It is not 'proper' for her own interest."

The return to the United States of Ambassador Gerard from Germany likewise was taken as an indication that no change is to come in the German policy.

It is admitted that the ambassador will discuss relations between Germany and the United States with Sec'y of State Lansing and with Pres't Wilson, but it is denied that his coming has any great significance. State department officials said today that Ambassador Gerard would also talk of the possibility of peace in Europe when he arrives in Washington, but that his discussions will not result in any change in the situation at the present time.

British Ruling
Against U. S. to Work Two Ways

International News Service:
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The department of state has struck the first retaliatory blow at Great Britain because of the United Kingdom's restrictions on American trade.

Because of England's restrictions on imports of spirituous liquors from the United States, Sec'y of State Lansing has notified customs officials to apply the same restrictions to spirits from Great Britain and her dominions when shipped to this country. Authority for the step was given in the pure food and drug acts.

Great Britain restricts the importation of spirits that have not been warehoused for at least three years. The department of agriculture announced today that on orders of the state department the same rule will be applied by the United States after Dec. 1 on exports from Great Britain.

Three Members Of Blackmail
Gang Arrested

International News Service:
CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—In a raid on a rooming house early today a woman and two men, suspected of complicity in the so-called million dollar blackmail syndicate's plans, were arrested by federal secret service operatives, and city police.

They gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Golden and John F. Lawrence. Lawrence's real name is said to be "Jack" Kenny, known to the police, they say, as a confidence man who works by matching coins. Information had reached the federal authorities that the prisoners were intimates of Homer T. French, "Jimmy" Christian and George Irwin, alleged members of the syndicate, and that Irwin often received mail in care of the Goldenes.

Legislation to Aid American Merchants Expected to be Suggested.

International News Service:
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—An exhaustive report on the conditions which the United States must face in the commercial struggle that will follow the European war soon will be made public by the federal trade commission, recommending the enactment of comprehensive legislation to aid American merchants and manufacturers in foreign trade. The legislation will be based on the Webb bill, exempting combinations for export trade from the operation of the anti-trust laws, which failed to pass the senate in the closing days of the last congress.

The trade commission report, which is practically completed, is based upon nearly a year of investigation in all of the markets of the world. Agents of the commission have probed the commercial systems of practically every world power. The report will deal at length with the German "cartel" system which under the German empire has built up its foreign trade by protection for huge combinations amounting practically to monopolies. The report will also deal at length with the British foreign trade system as developed by the British board of trade.

Germans Make Several Counter Attacks Against the British But All Are Failures Says London.

International News Service:
LONDON, Sept. 30.—The entire air corps of the Greek army with its 120 officers, has deserted to the revolutionists, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens today.

Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, has been bombed by a French aviator in retaliation for air attacks on Bucharest, according to a Paris war office communique today.

SERBIANS DEFEATED.

International News Service:
SOFIA, Sept. 30.—The capture of a position from the Serbians at Kalamakalan heights, northeast of Florina, was reported by the Bulgarian war office today in the following official statement:
"On the Macedonian front, at Kalamakalan heights we occupied the principal position of the enemy, capturing a French A. Russian warship bombarded Kapladjeng on the Black sea. An enemy aeroplane bombarded Sofia, killing two civilians."

International News Service:
PARIS, Sept. 30.—French troops east of Comblès, who are cooperating with the British in an attempt to encircle the Germans at Bapaume, have advanced their lines.

The communique issued by the French war office today stated that bad weather is hindering operations, but that the French have made more progress north of Hamcourt. (Hamcourt is about two miles east of Comblès on the main highway between Bapaume and Peronne.)

ATTACKS FAIL.

International News Service:
LONDON, Sept. 30.—Heavy German counter-attacks delivered during rainstorms on the Somme front last night were beaten off, says the official report of the British war office today.

A division of the new British army took part in this latest burst of fighting and behaved with great gallantry. Despite heavy artillery fire by the Germans the British have consolidated their new positions north of the Albert-Bapaume highway.

Although the Anglo-French soldiers are handicapped by the deep mud which covers the field of battle, fighting continues severe especially around Bapaume, where more gains have been scored.

Local attacks by the British north of the Albert-Bapaume highway and by the French south of Bapaume have enabled the allies to straighten their lines and press back the Germans from trenches that have already been blasted by bombardments.

Big Guns Active.

Duels with big guns continue all along the Somme front, although the fog has made observations difficult.

Soaked to the skin and plastered with mud, the British and French soldiers continue at their task of driving the Germans out of France, forgetful of their hardships in the glow of winning.

The deep mud has interfered with the operations of the "tanks," but these ponderous forts on wheels have carried a rest for the important part they played in the allied victory at Comblès and Thiepval.

Gray skies and fog have also hindered the work of the airmen, but the Germans making a guess at their range, have continued to shell the new positions of the British around Thiepval in the vain hope of preventing their complete consolidation.

Escaped Service.

International News Service:
PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 30.—William Frank, just back from Italy says he drank "tea" made from tobacco for 15 days to escape service in the Italian army. Army doctors declared him "too sick" to fight.
